

Call for grans

SWINBURNE University needs grandmothers to fill in an anonymous survey on what it means to be a grandma today.

Professors Susan Moore and Doreen Rosenthal are documenting the experiences of contemporary grandmothers and plan to write a book.

Prof Moore said: "So far, our data indicates that this is a generation of grandmothers who feel in excellent health and see themselves as younger in attitudes and behaviours than their own grandmothers were."

To access the survey visit granresearch.com

For hard copies with mail-back envelopes email smoore@swin.edu.au