

What's so good about being a gran?

■ Researchers from Swinburne and the University of Melbourne are still looking for women to tell their stories about their experiences as a contemporary grandma. Professor Susan Moore and Professor Dorothy Rosenthal plan to write a book and are interested in hearing from all grandmothers who believe they have something to say about this interesting and challenging life stage. To access the anonymous survey, visit www.granresearch.com or call 1300 275 788 to request a hard copy.